

Kelowna's traffic picture subject of long debate

Kelowna's traffic picture was the subject of a first-class debate at council meeting this week, following receipt of several recommendations from the traffic control advisory council.

Most contentious issue concerned turning right on a red light after pedestrian lanes had been cleared. The suggestion had been turned down by the traffic council, but city fathers thought the matter should be reconsidered, even if it was a case of adopting the idea on a six month trial basis.

A one second delay may not seem very much, but to motorists who use Bernard Avenue a great deal, the slight delay in changing of the amber light on traffic signals is most noticeable. The delayed action went into effect yesterday.

Council approved the recommendations that there be a greater delay in amber lights at the three intersections. Special constable L. A. M. Potterton originally suggested the idea, pointing out that the three second delay did not give elderly people an opportunity to clear the street before the light changed red.

The change in speeds for the traffic lights proceeding east and west on Bernard now will be: amber four seconds (was three seconds); red 26 seconds (was 27 seconds); green, 30 seconds (no change). Lights crossing Bernard, running north and south will be: amber five seconds (was three seconds); green 21 seconds (was 24 seconds); and red, 34 seconds (was 33 seconds).

The controversial "right turn through a red light," was discussed, and the matter was referred back to the traffic council. It was indicated a majority of aldermen were in favor of the right turn on the red light, as this would speed up traffic. In many instances, motorists who give way to pedestrians in the crosswalk, find the green signal has already changed red before they have turned the corner.

Council agreed that the engineering department should discontinue painting parallel parking lines on the main street, in view of the fact motorcycles and small English cars take up an entire lane. In addition to the cost of painting the lines, it was felt more cars would be able to park on the main street if the parking traffic lanes were ignored.

The "no right" and "no left" paint on traffic signs in the left and right hand lanes on Bernard, also came in for considerable discussion. One set of traffic signs have already been painted on Bernard at the Water Street intersection, and one or two aldermen felt the lettering was too large. The city will experiment with smaller lettering.

Alderman Dick Parkinson suggested that a police officer be instructed to "educate" motorists regarding the proper lane from which a right or left hand turn should be made.

"It's no starting an educational traffic campaign; it's not don't follow it up," he said, adding that after sufficient warning had been given, steps should be taken to prosecute.

Council also approved a recommendation that the traffic signals be left on Sunday night and on Sunday, effective June 15, except Sunday, effective June 15, on Sundays the flasher signals would be in operation.

Spring flowers will dominate horticultural show Saturday

Tulips in gorgeous array will predominate at the spring flower show being held Saturday afternoon and early evening in the Anglican parish hall, but pansies, anemones and a number of decorative classes also will have their place, and competition for ribbon awards is expected to be keen.

This annual event, sponsored by the Kelowna and District Horticultural Society, is the first of the season's shows which are held at intervals throughout the summer and autumn.

The Horticultural Society wishes to make clear the fact that it is not necessary to be a member of the society in order to compete in these shows, and that any interested amateur gardener may enter the various classes.

FLOWER SHOW JUDGE
Nat May, head gardener at the Summerland Experimental Farm, will judge the flowers, and plans for the event are being completed by officers of the society, of whom Maurice King is president; Frank Horton, vice-president and Mrs. J. H. B. Browne, of Okanagan Mission, secretary-treasurer.

A new departure—that of a Rose Show—is planned for this season, and doubtless will attract many entries and great interest. Later this fall a "mum" show will be featured, and at the annual fall flower show.

Three juveniles make good their escape after hectic ride through city streets

Three juveniles made good their escape during the early morning hours of Wednesday morning following a hectic drive through city streets in a stolen automobile which eventually ended up on the front lawn of a house at the end of a dead-end street.

While details are lacking, it is understood a local resident awoke early, hearing the rattling of milk cans, he looked out the window, and saw the car. He called the police, and the juveniles were seen in his automobile after driving a pair of trousers.

The juveniles are suspected of taking another car which was reported stolen later.

Close watch being kept on flooding

Civic officials are keeping a close watch on the flood picture in the surrounding district, and unless unusually high temperatures prevail, no more flash flooding is anticipated on Kelowna (Mill) Creek.

However, Mission Creek has come up considerably during the last few days, and department of public works' officials are keeping a close check on likely danger spots.

Insofar as Kelowna Creek is concerned, Ald. Jack Treadgold said the Glenmore Irrigation District and Bob Ritchie are co-operating to the fullest extent about three inches of water above the 17-foot weir is being released at the Postill Lake dam, and the effect on the creek will be closely observed. If necessary, more water will be let out.

Kelowna junior band attends conference

Kelowna Junior Band, conducted by Mark Rose, took part in an invitational band conference held at New Westminster last week-end. A total of 68 students made the trip.

Members of the band had an opportunity to attend clinic sessions, where they received instructions from a number of noted musicians. Each of the seven bands which took part in the conference had an opportunity to play for adjudication, but no marks were awarded.

While at the coast, they took part in the New Westminster May Day celebrations, attended by close to 14,000 people, and they were invited to play in a mass band, totalling 500 musicians. On Saturday night, each of the bands played at a final concert in the new high school auditorium. Capacity audience of 1,400 people attended.

Fred Turner of the New Westminster Lions Junior Band extended the invitation to the Kelowna students.

Improvements made to toilet facilities in various parks

Thanks to the City of Kelowna parks board, clean, new toilet facilities have been provided in various sections of the city.

In City Park, improvements have been made to both sections under the grandstand, while the ladies rest room, near the bowling green, has also been improved. Similar facilities have been provided adjacent to Elks Stadium in Recreation Park. However, directional signs and designation signs have not as yet been erected. It is expected that this will be done in the near future. That is, at Elks Stadium.

"That's better" says Sharon (bottom photo) as Gerry gingerly bites on mid-morning snack, putting himself in shape for competition with other local members of canine fraternity when Gyro Club stages annual pet parade Monday at City Park.

Pet parade and sports day is scheduled to start at 9:30 a.m. at park tennis courts when animals of all descriptions will vie for attention of judges. An entry form may be obtained on page 7, second section.

HOSPITAL NETS $500

Hospital grounds take on 'fair' atmosphere as hundreds of people patronize booths

Against the quiet white background of the Kelowna General Hospital, hundreds of Kelowna citizens bought handicrafts, had afternoon tea, fished in the pond and chatted yesterday afternoon at the annual hospital fair, sponsored by the junior and senior hospital auxiliaries. The wide green hospital lawn was dotted with booths, gay dresses, and the white uniforms of nurses, while music of accordions, played by Brian and Jerry Mills, and the bagpipes of the Preston Brothers from Rutland, provided entertainment. Three "clowns" selling balloons, Mrs. W. V. Hillier, Mrs. Trevino, and Mrs. Dave Chapman, did a thriving business. The convener of clowns and balloons was Mrs. Hillier.

Each booth was marked by a ten-foot banner, an innovation. Among the booths were the home-cooking stall, handled by Mrs. Harold Henderson; candy, Mrs. Ron Prosser; white elephant, Mrs. Len Leathley; ice cream, Mrs. Carl Brunette; "take a chance" raffle, Mrs. Tommy McLaughlin; handicrafts, Mrs. Ken Garland; fish pond and treasure hunt, Mrs. Stewart Walker; and plants, Mrs. John Burns.

One of the popular attractions was the tea-cup reading booth, and the "readers" were Mrs. T. F. McWilliams and Mrs. G. Briese. Mrs. Cameron Day, assisted by Mrs. Walby Taylor, was in charge of tea.

Mrs. H. M. Trueman, Junior Auxiliary, general convener of the fair, estimated that $500 was taken in, and with about $100 expenses, $500 will be turned over to the hospital as a result of the fair. Mrs. E. R. Pelly was co-convener.

About 85 visitors toured the hospital buildings, which were open from 2:00 to 4:00 for inspection. In the "take a chance" raffle, Mrs. J. F. Hampson won the child's Cape Cod chair made and given by Bob Foote. Chris Reid won first prize in the treasure hunt, while Mrs. Mills won second and Mrs. W. H. Lyne won the third prize.

Ice cream was donated by the Kelowna Creamery, apple juice by the B.C. Fruit Processors.

Auxiliary members wish to acknowledge their gratitude for generous support by all organizations and the public.

Meeting called to make plans for jubilee

A meeting to make plans for the celebration of Kelowna's Golden Jubilee of incorporation, will be held in the council chambers at the City Hall on June 10, at 8:00 o'clock.

Representatives of all organizations will be asked to attend and express their views on the matter. However, it is a foregone conclusion that the celebration will be combined with the 1955 regatta, in view of the fact historical pageants have not proven satisfactory in other cities.

Kelowna was incorporated as a city in 1905.

Will present bridge brief to premier

Finalization of the Highway 97-Okanagan Lake bridge, brief has been completed, chairman C. E. R. Bazzett reported to the Kelowna Board of Trade on Tuesday.

Mailing of the brief will be done this week-end and it will be in the hands of Premier W. A. C. Bennett by Monday or Tuesday.

Request to pump out flood water rejected by city

City Council has rejected a request from a number of residents in the recent flood-stricken area on Kelowna (Mill) Creek, to have the city pump water out of basements.

Council took the stand that it would not be setting a precedent by undertaking the job, and should the request be granted, it would be necessary to hire equipment as the city has only one pump. However, the engineering staff will endeavor to assist residents in obtaining the necessary equipment.

Works minister will address highway group

Hon. P. A. Gagliardi, provincial minister of public works, will be one of the guest speakers at a directors meeting of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association to be held in Penticton June 11-12.

A brief outline of the tentative program was given by J. D. Bawa to the Kelowna Board of Trade executive on Tuesday. Registration takes place at 4:00 p.m. with a banquet at 7:00 o'clock, sponsored by the Penticton City Council, trade clubs, Dr. Shepherd was a former alderman, school board trustee and served several years on the board Okanagan Valley's first resident dentist, and prominent Kelowna resident, Dr. J. W. Shepherd, dies

Crop prospects are not as bad as originally anticipated following last month's killing frost which nipped tender blossoms, although it will be another two weeks before full extent of the damage can be assessed.

Cherries, apricots and peaches have taken the worst beating, according to A. K. Loyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., and while some growers sustained a 90 to 100 percent loss, there will still be a soft fruit crop.

Mr. Loyd was not prepared to estimate what the cherry crop would amount to, other than to say it will be "light." Lamberts suffered more than Bings, he said.

"The June drop will tell the whole story," he declared, pointing out far as the marketing of the 1953 that in many instances, the blossom crop is concerned. The last carloads, only for the fruit to drop off lead of the 5,200,000 box crop, will be a week or so later. He left the valley next Tuesday or cited the case of a Yakima grower, who had four acres of 'cots. "There was a good blossom and the fruit was a good blossom and the fruit set. But the fruit dropped off later" he said. Mr. Loyd agreed the damage varies from one end of the valley to the other, and while some growers have lost their entire crop, this is by no means general.

Insofar as apples are concerned, the Delicious variety appears to have been damaged the most. There appear to have come through unharmed.

Insofar as this year's crop is concerned, asparagus is moving steadily and the demand is good. However, within the next two weeks, Tree Fruits is expected to run into prairie competition.

Florists in Pacific northwest will convene here this week-end

Florists from Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia will convene here this week-end for the Kelowna Ogopogo Convention of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association.

Miss Mona Bent and Mrs. Grace Butcher have been busy planning the event for several weeks, being F.T.D.A. members. Mrs. Maudie Taylor has also assisted. Proceedings get underway with an informal gathering Saturday.

A civic welcome will be extended Sunday at the Eldorado Arms Hotel. Following this there will be a scenic tour over Jaycee routes to Woods Lake; a tea at the Kelowna Aquatic; a cocktail party at Okanagan Mission; a dinner at 8:00 p.m. with T. R. Hill, Kelowna Board of Trade secretary, as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Phyllis Hill will be soloist-plantist.

Monday will also see a full agenda, locale being the Royal Anne Hotel. Events get underway with a business clinic at 9:30 a.m. Chairman Joyce Gooding, of Duncan, will introduce Rudy Luepke, regional director from Vancouver, Washington.

At 10:00 a.m., W. T. Buss, managing director, Kelowna Sawmill Co. Ltd., will address the meeting. His subject will be "Modern design in window and interior display and what to do in remodeling."

Mrs. Grace McCarthy, district representative, Vancouver, B.C., will chairmen the 12:30 luncheon, introducing speaker Tony Jurvic, F.T.D.A. field representative from Detroit, Mich.

A 2:00 p.m. design school meeting will be chairmanned by Don Harris, with school of design directed by Jack Skinner being featured. Following this there will be a trade fair and gift show display by D. L. Jones, a Vancouver wholesale firm. The convention will conclude with a banquet at 7:30 p.m. in the Royal Anne Hotel.

An outstanding exhibit, a large floral Ogopogo, being shipped from Vancouver in a refrigerated truck, will be on display in the Royal Anne Hotel from 8:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. Monday night, along with other beautiful floral displays. The public is cordially invited to see these colorful exhibits. The floral Ogopogo is the creation of Frank Button and Tony Bouchette of Button's Flower Shop, Vancouver.

Novel "bicycle boat" race

A novel "bicycle boat" race will be held Monday, May 24, between the Kelowna Aquatic and Pitt's Boat Rental at the foot of Bernard Avenue, at 2.30 p.m.

Civic dignitaries, local merchants and other well-known citizens will take part in the affair.

The gaily colored, upright forms of transport, will be thus officially shown to the public. Introduced here for the first time this year, "bicycle boats" have caught the fancy of numerous Kelowna teen agers who have tried riding them. Motivation is made by pedaling just as on a bicycle, all parts of a bike being retained in construction, except that pontoons supplant the usual wheels.

Operator Cyril Pitt is hopeful that a lot of fun will result during the race and hopes a large crowd will be on hand to witness it.

Sports parade

By RON BAIRD

Pony League baseball gets a shot in the arm tonight with a call to all boys of 13 and 14 to turn up at the Little League grounds in City Park for an organizational meeting at 6.30 p.m.

Formation of a Pony League here this year has had rough sailing, with the main difficulty being lack of volunteer help to get the league in action.

One of the league organizers, Eddie Cousins, said today that all adults who would be willing to help in the running of the League are asked to turn out tonight, along with the youngsters.

At a recent KART meeting, president Bill Robson noted with dismay the lack of volunteer help in getting the league underway.

Apparently, few people were interested in helping these young ball players get a start in the season.

However, KART has given help as it can and the future success of Pony League ball remains in the hands of a few faithful volunteers who are doing their utmost to see that boys too old for Little League baseball get a chance to play in their own league.

If you can devote some time each week to helping the Pony Leaguers, turn out at the City Park tonight at 6.30 and give the fellows a hand.

Offer denied

Kelowna Hockey Club executive have flatly denied a report in a Vancouver paper this week that Bobby Bergeron of New Westminster Royals had received an offer to coach Packers next season.

The club executive said they regarded the story as a bit of personal promotion on the part of Bergeron, adding that no offer whatever had been made in his direction.

Bergeron was quoted in the coast daily as saying: "It's very attractive, but while I think Kenny McKenzie would let me leave New Westminster Royals, I'm not so sure the rest of the clubs in the WHL would waive the claim to me if I was released."

Club secretary Don Clark said today president Grant Bishop of the Kelowna club had talked informally to Bergeron at the Saturday night hockey game in Ponficketon, asking him what he thought of the league, but had not made any offer at all to the Royals player.

This will be the first time this season that a Vancouver team has played exhibition ball in Kelowna. Regular league play started in the girls' division last night when Aces took on Rutland to get the season underway.

FASTEST GROWING SPORT IN THE NATION

Skin-diving

Much has been written about this fascinating sport which is now sweeping the nation. Only those who have experienced the thrill of under-water exploration can explain the feeling one gets when he sees for the first time, places which were heretofore forbidden go man.

Each year since the war and the era of the famous frog-men, thousands of young and some not so young have donned the flippers and mask. These enthusiasts have formed Skin Diving and Spear-Fishing Clubs in different places throughout the entire universe. Lifeguards have found the flippers a boon. The added fish-like foot gear gives them more speed and power in the water by increased propulsion.

Thousands of dollars in lost articles and pieces of equipment have been recovered by skin-divers.

Children who sometimes have shown fear of the water have strapped on flippers and learned to swim without fear in less time.

Physicians Prescription Pharmacy on Fendall and Gange Pharmacy on Bernard now have the full sets in stock.

ANGLE-LORE
Where and how to get the best fishing

By JIM TREADGOLD

Fishing is just starting in the mountain lakes of the district. The first upper lake to open was Bear Lake which a few anglers fished last Sunday. George Anderson and Hugh Sutherland of North Vancouver had a nice catch of trout that averaged one and a half pounds. Stan Duggan and Les Hilton also took a few nice ones; some on the fly. The road in is reported good.

The ice has not as yet gone out on Beaver Lake or the Dee Lake chain or on Postill Lake, but it is expected to move before this week-end. If it doesn't there will be a lot of disappointed fishermen as many parties have planned the long week-end on those lakes. Road is good to Beaver.

Fred Gornall reported a very good trip into Hidden Lake near Enderby last Saturday and Sunday, taking fish up to nine pounds, and seeing one of 12 pounds landed by a Vernon sportsman. Friend Dan Hill and myself tried this lake on Wednesday but the fish stayed hidden most of the day and we finished with only two trout around three pounds. The road in is not too bad.

Quite a few fish are being caught from Okanagan Lake. A good spot has been near the middle of the lake off Mission Creek, out past the muddy water. Fish have also been reported off Bear Creek and the log boom there.

Woods Lake has been quite good with many nice trout around two pounds in size reported. More trout than kokanee are being taken, which reflects on the stocking theory of fishery officer Frank Lucas. Frank has been very persistent in stocking this lake with fingerlings from the Kelowna rearing ponds and his program is showing results.

Small plugs have been a good lure here and also the old reliable Willow Leaf troll.

Fishing is now open in Mission Creek and many anglers were noted along the banks last Sunday. This is the earliest opening of this stream for many years. A few fish were taken below the dam in Bonville, with two reported around five pounds. These fish are mostly spawning trout which are not able to get over the dam.

BIOLOGIST HERE
Fish biologist R. G. (Bob) McMynn of the B.C. Game Commission spent three days in the district last week. Bob was counting trout trying to get up the dam on Mission Creek and he reported seeing none get over this obstruction. Bob was brought in by a request of the Kelowna Rod and Gun Club and will conduct a full survey of the spawning and rearing conditions of Mission Creek this summer. He is now of the opinion that a fish ladder would be beneficial on this dam, but wishes to complete study of the upper spawning grounds of the creek and also study the obstructions to the downstream migrations caused by the various irrigation ditches leading from the creek before reporting officially on the project.

Eminent pianist conducts exams

Earl Moss, well-known concert pianist and member of the faculty of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, will conduct current examinations for the Conservatory in Kelowna on June 9 and 10.

Mr. Moss has appeared in many concerts and radio recitals since winning a licentiate, as a gold medalist from the Toronto Conservatory in 1944. His music teacher was the prominent Canadian virtuoso Ernest Seitz who left his class in Moss' hands on retirement.

The young Canadian was awarded a fellowship to study in California with Igor Stravinsky in 1950, and since then has appeared in concerts throughout Canada and western United States.

As a member of the Toronto Conservatory faculty, he has been appointed to the board of studies and the board of examiners.

We view our fields of golden grain,
They prove from planting there is gain,
We're only hoping for the best,
When seed and soil have proved a test,
And so it is in life's great game,
We strive to build a worthy name,
We really plan or calculate,
From what we plant and cultivate.

members reminded of citizenship day

EAST KELOWNA—Members of East Kelowna Women's Institute noted at their recent meeting that tomorrow—May 21—is Citizenship Day: a day on which it is well to ask just what it means to be Canadians, and to ponder what is owed to the country of one's allegiance.

Those who witnessed the patient at the Associated Countrywomen of the World meeting held in Toronto last year saw unfolded before them the story of Canada's history—a story that impressed and thrilled each one with his heritage.

Members were also reminded that Citizenship Day offers an opportunity of welcoming the new Canadians among us—so that all together Canadians may honor this great country.

President Mrs. A. W. Rowles expressed gratitude for the help and co-operation so generously given in the recent plant and bulb sale, which proved a most successful event. A further item of business dealt with was the passing of resolutions to be presented to the forthcoming provincial convention being held in Vancouver early next month. Mrs. W. Hince gave a resume of the recently held South Okanagan and Similkameen rally held in Penticton.

Discussion of the institute scholarship for home economics was discussed, and it was pointed out that applicants for such scholarship must be a daughter of an institute member of three years standing.

Application must be sent in by the institute of which her mother is a member. According to Miss Charlotte Black, head of the school of home economics at UBC, trained home economists are badly needed, and all graduates are assured of good employment.

Seventeen members attended the meeting, during which hostesses Mrs. W. Murrell, Mrs. H. A. Porter and Mrs. C. Ross served tea.

Flying Officer Ronald Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Holland, KLO Road, Kelowna, who graduated Friday from the University of Edmonton with a Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering.

Mrs. J. E. Seaton made a recent trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. Coe has returned home from Vernon.

The Winoka Blue Socks softball team have members from Okanagan Centre, Winfield and Oryama. The girls played their first game on Sunday against the Kelowna Aces and lost 18 to 5.

Mr. D. L. Miller was a recent visitor to Vancouver.

The Arnold family motored to Kelowna on Mother's Day to attend the christening of Susan Lynn Haskins, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Haskins.

Mrs. P. W. Pixton of Okanagan Centre and Mrs. S. Thorlakson, of Oryama, accompanied Mrs. L. Chato to Kelowna and there Mrs. S. McKinnon met them and the ladies motored down to Summerland to the United Church Presbytery. They had a very enjoyable time with dinner and lunch. A bit of motor trouble marred an otherwise wonderful day.

Mr. Kermit Eutin of Rutland has been taking a leadership training course at Naramata and was the speaker at the Winfield United Church on Sunday. His talk was enjoyed by all. He has been helping out in the absence of Rev. P. Mallet, who is now in Victoria at a conference.

City finally gets action on fire alarm system

City Council and Kelowna Fire Department have finally got action regarding their complaint over the faulty fire alarm system.

A letter was written to Northern Electric Company nearly three weeks ago, but the last civic officials heard was that the complaint had been passed along to the engineering department. Last week a telegram was sent to the electrical firm, requesting replacement of the air horn, and within a few hours a reply was received to the effect that a replacement valve was being shipped immediately.

During a series of tests last week it was found the air horn was sticking on the fourth blast, and that the valve had to be flipped manually. Council and firemen are hoping the new valve will solve the problem.

Okonots retain top position in mainline league

Kamloops Okonots retained their first place position in the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League here Sunday by walloping Kelowna Orioles 9-2 behind the four-hit pitching of coach Johnny Brklich.

Orioles got a run in each of the first two innings to move ahead in the game 2-0, but the locals jumped on starter John Ingram for three runs in the fourth, three in the fifth and singletons in the sixth, seventh and eighth frames.

The Okonots batsmen chased Ingram and then ran through relievers Ed Kleibiski, Les Hickson and Bob Campbell for ten hits.

Morio Koga and Hank Tostenon scored Kelowna's two runs in the early innings.

Ron Evenson got Kamloops back in the game with a home run that scored Don Slater and Jack Fowles to make the score 3-2.

Len Fowles, Slater and Jack Fowles combined three hits, an error and two walks to make it 6-2 in the fifth. Len Fowles, Bill McDonald and Bob Saklowsky scored in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings respectively to complete the sweep over Orioles.

McDonald, Slater, Len Fowles and Jack Fowles all contributed two hits apiece to the Kamloops cause while Joe Kaiser collected two of the four hits off of Brklich.

Kelowna plays out of town at Vernon Sunday.

"The Joe Louis Story" coming here May 24-26

"The Joe Louis Story" coming to the Boyd Drive-In Theatre May 24-26, has been described by one observer as "the most candid movie ever made about a living person."

It is the authentic film biography of the man who, in the opinion of many qualified critics, was the greatest heavyweight champion the world has ever known. It was produced by Stirling Silliphant and directed by Robert Gordon from a screenplay by newspaperman-novelist Robert Silverstein. Heading the cast are Paul Stewart, James Edwards, Hilda Simms, Coley Wallace (the young heavyweight contender with the startling resemblance to Joe Louis), Doty Johnson and Evelyn Ellis.

RESEMBLES LOUIS
The title role of "The Joe Louis Story" is played not by an actor, but a prize fighter—24-year-old Coley Wallace, the ex-Golden Gloves champion, who since turning professional has won 22 out of 24 fights and risen to the rank of Number Seven among contenders for the heavyweight title owned by Rocky Marciano. Coley, the only nonprofessional actor in the cast, bears an almost uncanny resemblance to Joe Louis in his prime.

More than three thousand applicants for the role of Marva, Joe's former wife, were sifted through, before the producers of "The Joe Louis Story" gave up in despair and did what they had wanted to do in the first place—casted to Hilda Simms to come home from Paris to do the job.

Many of Joe's great fights are included in the picture in interlarded film records of the actual bouts. Among these are such stirring battles as Joe's bouts with Max Baer, Jimmie Braddock, Max Schmeling (both fights), Paolo Uzcudun, Primo Carnera, Billy Conn, Arturo Godoy, Tommy Farr, Joe Walcott and Rocky Marciano.

Saturday evening will see the CREY and Sunday school workers banquet, one of the most important meals to be served from the new kitchen during the conference.

Sunday, too, will be a busy day for it is the occasion of Grace Baptist Church's official dedication. Sunday School will take place at 9:30 a.m. and the service will be conducted in German in the church auditorium at 10:30, with Dr. A. S. Felberg, of the Vancouver Ebenezer Baptist church, giving the official dedication address. The English service will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon, when many speeches and good wishes will be given. Ald. Jack Treadgold will officially represent the city. A 50-voice choir, combining the standing 30-voice men's choir and the Young People's choir, will be presented, led by A. Grapentine.

OFFICIAL OWNERS
Sunday over, the minister and congregation of Grace Church will find themselves the official owners of a building they bought with their own money (it is almost completely paid for), made with their own hands (except for electricity and plumbing), and motivated by their own enthusiasm.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED Barriault of Carlton Centre, County Mr. and Mrs. M. Mciver of K.L.O. Bonaventure, P.Q. The wedding will be held at the engagement of take place on July 10, at the R.C. their daughter Patricia, to Roger Chapel, No. 4 (F) Wing, Boeligen, Arcand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Honore Baden, Germany.

Sunnyvale Centre holds open house Wednesday

Sunnyvale Centre, Kelowna's occupation centre for retarded children, will hold an open house in its classroom at the Kelowna Aquatic Club on Wednesday from 2.00 to 5.00 p.m.

Visitors will see the children at work from 2.00 to 3.00, after which the committee will entertain them in a social afternoon with refreshments.

In the compact, airy classroom, facing out across the Okanagan Lake, callers will see, among other things, samples of the work which the children have accomplished. Water-colors are scattered around the soft pink walls, as well as pasted story projects.

LAUGH AND PLAY
Guided by pleasant, soft-voiced Nancy Middleton, the five young girls have laughed and played their way through five months of painting, reading, writing, weaving, singing, working with plastics, and many other educational and enjoyable pastimes.

Mrs. Middleton, who came to Canada from England in 1939, and still retains a slight accent, has attempted to give every girl an outlet for her talent, and maintains that each one excels at something.

The students begin school at 9.00 a.m. and continue until three in the afternoon, starting off the day with a prayer and a hymn. Mornings are partly taken up with the academic work, while after lunch they concentrate mainly on play.

Lunchtime, says the teacher, is one of the most important parts of the curriculum, for then the girls learn not only etiquette, but social conversation and behavior.

GOOD CO-OPERATION
The East Kelowna housewife is not alone in her enthusiasm for her work. Besides receiving financial and moral support from its Kelowna and district sponsoring society, and other organizations, Mrs. Middleton has active help from several of the society's members and others who are interested. These volunteers help with the meals, provide singing lessons and story hours, throughout the week.

The result of all this concentrated interest is that each girl has made personal and academic progress. Mrs. Middleton's aim is to give them a degree of skill and independence that will ensure their future happiness in whatever way they do have talent.

Visiting the centre yesterday was Sheila Lord, at present girls' counsellor with the industrial school in Vancouver, who has spent several years in the past working with retarded children.

Born in British Guiana, Miss Lord took a year's course in England, received her diploma, and spent three years at a centre in Surrey, where she was first assistant, then in charge. This centre, and others like it, had forty children and a staff of four. In the case of such students, says Miss Lord, individual attention is particularly necessary, for they often must be taught such things as washing and dressing, with much patience.

After she came to Canada, pleasant, brown-eyed Miss Lord helped in her spare time with a newly established centre for retarded children in Vancouver, which soon acquired 25 children, and a permanent teacher. Here, she said, the centre is advancing rapidly.

Referring to the Kelowna centre, Sunnyvale, Miss Lord gave a high recommendation, applauding the interest given it and its success.

PUBLIC UNDERSTANDING
She stresses the importance of public understanding and sympathy for retarded children, pointing out that jeers and stares not only embarrass, but make such children afraid to leave their homes.

Extremely enthusiastic about expanding centres for retarded children in Canada, Miss Lord explains that such care not only helps them learn and develop—they have a particular talent for music—but gives their tired mothers a chance to relax for a few hours and do necessary work. Also, she says, it is important in families to keep normal children from feeling neglected when their mothers must give more time and care to a retarded brother or sister.

The school for retarded children, she points out, benefits not only the child itself but his entire family. And with public co-operation, much more can be done.

Invited by the president of the W.A. to attend Wednesday evening's "meeting," Miss Edgell arrived at the hall expecting to meet fellow members only. Instead, she walked into a party arranged to do her honor, and at which she was taken completely by surprise at the presentation of gifts. Later in the evening moving pictures of the coronation were shown, and refreshments served.

75,000 cubic yards silt to be dragged from lake

Approximately 75,000 cubic yards of silt will be removed from Okanagan Lake in the vicinity of the CNR and CPR wharfs when dredging operations get underway the latter part of the year.

C. F. P. Faulkner, federal public works engineer, New Westminster, B.C., plans to change the intake pipe to a less contaminated area in the vicinity of Poplar Point. Council expressed doubt as to whether the pipeline would be moved by that time. However, aldermen agreed to the request regarding the silt, and it will be used to fill in low lying areas along the shoreline.

In the event the pipeline is not moved by the time dredging starts, Ald. Jack Treadgold expressed hope that some system may be worked out whereby the city may pump water into the reservoir when the dredge is not operating.

Dredging of the lake is part of the Okanagan flood control project. The lake will be lowered considerably, when the huge undertaking is completed, hence the necessity of dredging near the CN and CP wharfs.

Later in the meeting it was disclosed a consulting engineer from Kamloops recently visited Kelowna and conferred with City Engineer George Meckling and Ald. Treadgold, regarding the new location of the pipeline.

It was thought that it would be three weeks or a month before working plans are ready to submit.

To speak here

John T. Spittler, authorized speaker for Technocracy, Inc., will be in Kelowna next Tuesday to address a public meeting in the Legion Hall, at 8:00 p.m. He will discuss North American social problems.

Aim of Mr. Spittler's trans-continental tour is to explain the important aspects of the social problems confronting North America, dealing with such topics as surplus, unemployment, rising debts and taxes, resource depletion, and new technology. He will also outline social trends which may be expected to develop in the immediate future.

A question period will follow the main lecture.

Penticton officials thank Kelownians for support

Mayor J. J. Ladd expressed the opinion that the Penticton V's, through winning the Allan Cup, have done a great deal in cementing the friendly relationships between the two Okanagan cities.

Speaking at a civic banquet honoring the Canadian champions at Penticton Tuesday, Mr. Ladd hoped the friendly rivalry would continue to exist. He referred to the fact that Kelowna was "right behind" the V's, and congratulated the team on behalf of the citizens of Kelowna. Alderman Dick Parkinson also spoke a few words along the same vein.

Earlier in the week, the mayor received two letters—one from Mayor Oscar Matson, and another from C. P. Bird, president of the Penticton senior hockey club.

TEXT OF LETTER Mayor Matson wrote: "On behalf of myself, the council and the citizens of Penticton, I wish to express our heartfelt appreciation for the way in which your citizens turned out last night to meet the Penticton V's on their arrival in Kelowna."

"I feel that the spirit shown in the recent series has been something to be proud of."

Mr. Bird's letter read: "I am writing this letter to you on behalf of the executive and players of the Penticton senior hockey club, commonly known as the Penticton V's, in appreciation for the wonderful reception which you and your good citizens extended to our team on their arrival to play the sixth game of the Allan Cup series on Thursday last."

"We were also very deeply appreciative of the marvelous support which our team received from the fans of Kelowna in this game. These gestures will go a long way towards cementing relations between our respective cities and will serve to prove that when the good name of the Okanagan is at stake, no matter who may be its representative, we are all one. With kind personal regards, I am..."

General Harman former valley resident dies

Brigadier-General A. R. Harman, CMG, DSO, who purchased property at Postill, near the present Eldorado Ranch, shortly after he came to the Okanagan in 1910, died last month in England, according to word received by R. E. Archer Houlton, of Okanagan Mission.

Brigadier-General Harman, in 1922, was a member of the fruit growers' committee which led to the formation of the Associated Growers. He was also president of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange in 1924-25.

He was in the Egyptian campaign of 1898, took part in the siege of Ladysmith, and fought through the South African War. He returned to England in August, 1914, and joined a British rifle brigade, of which Mr. Archer Houlton was also a member.

After rising to the rank of brigadier-general, he returned to Canada following the cessation of hostilities. In 1932, however, the house at Postill burned to the ground, and he returned to London, Eng., where he has since resided.

Tourist sign to be erected at ferry wharf

A Kelowna and District Tourist Association proposal to have a suitable sign erected near the approach to the westside ferry wharf has met with approval by the Kelowna Board of Trade.

Hal Puder broached the matter at Tuesday's executive meeting. It was felt that such a sign would not score from the stands much easier than in the past.

would have ample time to study it, and it would offer 24-hour publicity the whole year round.

The sign will inform motorists of Kelowna's many distinctive attractions, store closing hours, and other pertinent information.

Royce Bazzett, Highway 97-Okanagan Lake bridge chairman, suggested that the sign be considered "temporary" in nature and made "movable" so that it could later "be put near the bridge approach."

Members heartily concurred.

IMPROVE BOARD

Thanks to Fred Russell, the score-board at Elks Stadium is being re-blackened to make reading of the was felt that such a sign would not score from the stands much easier than in the past.

Designate entry for new highway in Summerland

Main entry into Summerland when the new highway is constructed will be up the road which runs past Occidental Fruit, instead of via the Gulch Road. Announcement that the council has changed original plans was made by Reeve Athlison at the meeting last week. He gave no explanation as to why the change was made.

Although no definite announcement has yet been made by the provincial department of public works on when work will start on the new stretch of highway, council apparently is in possession of information and approval was given for power line to be moved across the road at Trout Creek at a cost of $165. It was pointed out cost of this work will be paid by the provincial government since it is necessitated by new road construction.

A crew of the works department has been in the district for the past 10 days negotiating for the purchase of land needed for the new highway.

Accountants hold parley in Kelowna

Twelve Vancouver and Victoria chartered accountants met in Kelowna last Saturday at the Eldorado Arms Hotel, as members of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of B.C.

Lieut. Robert Young is youngest officer serving aboard Canadian destroyer Cayuga

ON BOARD HMCS CAYUGA—Go looking for this destroyer's torpedo anti-submarine officer, her information officer, her photographic officer and her recreation officer, and you'll find your business quickly, for they're one and the same person.

Destroyer officers must be versatile enough to handle any number of duties. The 13 members of the Cayuga's wardroom are just that, for between them they are responsible for about 40 separate jobs aboard ship.

Recreation, sports and educational programs are highly important activities aboard Canadian warships in this Far East theatre, and making them a success takes a lot of time and effort.

Lt.-Cdr. Norman Donaldson, of Victoria, is, officially, the Cayuga's torpedo anti-submarine officer. He stands his four-hour watches on the bridge and plots attacks on submarines during the ship's numerous anti-submarine exercises. He also is recreation officer, delivers lectures on current affairs and teaches mathematics to crew members, writes articles and has photographs taken for press release on the ship's activities, and drums up interest in hobbies among the ship's company. They are part of his normal duties.

COMMUNICATIONS OFFICER

Lt.-Cdr. John Ley, also of Victoria, is the Cayuga's navigating officer. He is also operations officer and staff officer to the captain.

The communications officer is Lieut. Robert Young, of Kelowna, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Young, of Okanagan Mission, but he is the ship's intelligence officer, security officer and meteorologist as well.

Lieut. Young joined the RCN and graduated from Royal Roads in 1948. He married the former Jane Angle, daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. Harry Angle, of Okanagan Mission. Mrs. Young is at present living at Okanagan Mission. The navy officer and his wife, have a little girl, Janet, one and a half years of age.

Years of training, both ashore and at sea, have given each of the Cayuga's officers grasp of a surprising number of duties, and years of practical experience have added to their knowledge. Ten of the ship's officers have each had more than 10 years of service with the RCN.

Lt.-Cdr. Donaldson, for instance, has been in the RCN for 13 years. Before joining the Cayuga last year, he completed a year-long leadership and technical course, in which he received "up-to-the-minute" refresher instruction in seamanship, gunnery, communication, navigation, damage control, electronics, engineering, and his current specialty, torpedo anti-submarine work. As extra-curricular activities he took public speaking, lecturing and fire-fighting courses. Photography has long been a hobby of his.

He served aboard ships of the Royal Navy on loan. As a naval pilot nine years, he has flown Avenger, Sea Fury and Firefly aircraft with both the RN and RCN, and for two years was commanding officer of an Avenger squadron operating from the aircraft carrier Magnificent.

Lt.-Cdr. Ley is also a pilot, having flown for six years with the RCN. Early in his naval career, as a midshipman and sub-lieutenant, he served on loan in the Royal

Oyama people will receive emergency telephone numbers

OYAMA—At the general meeting of Branch 189, Canadian Legion, it was decided to supply each household in the Oyama district with a printed card listing the telephone numbers to be called in case of emergencies, such as fire, police, ambulance and first-aid man.

The proposed changes in the mail service throughout the valley was discussed, but due to lack of information no action was taken. As the present exhaust fan in the club rooms has been sold to the Armstrong Branch, it was decided to carry out some experiments to determine the type of fan required to keep the air in the club rooms clean before purchasing a new fan.

The entertainment committee reported that the Oyama organizations have plans for the annual May day well organized and that the Legion is donating free ice cream and pop to the children as usual. They also reported on the entertainment evening held recently with members of the Lumby branch as guests. Fifty persons spent a very enjoyable evening playing darts, cribbage, billiards and snooker in competition for the Fleming Zone Challenge Shield, held by Lumby. Lumby took the shield back with them, in spite of Oyama's efforts. The ladies' auxiliary was congratulated on the catering arrangements made, especially as they had been given such short notice. The film "Everybody's Handicapped" which was recently seen by a few members who attended a showing of the film in Vernon as guests of the Vernon branch, was recommended as an interesting film which all the members should see at the next opportunity. A number of members signified their intention to attend the next zone meeting in Sicamous of June 18, to meet the provincial president, Ralph Gibson and provincial secretary, Duncan MacLennan.

Since 1941 the value of gold produced in Canada has dropped from $205,000,000 to $151,000,000.

CHAPTER TWO

At the crossing of the "narrows," on what is today known as "Siwash Point," there stood an Indian village, with "Pantherhead" as its chief. The excavations for the old fire-pits that formed the centre of the lodges were to be seen until recent years, and even now the occasional discovery of a flint arrow or spear-head rewards the quick eye. In fact, at several places throughout this district numerous Indian relics have been found, and on the rocks fronting Okanagan Lake, south of Gellatly Point are several specimens of Indian paintings or pictographs. These unfortunately, are disappearing as a result of wind and weather erosion.

The Indians had a name for the "narrows," on what is today known as "Siwash Point," there stood an Indian village, with "Pantherhead" as its chief. The excavations for the old fire-pits that formed the centre of the lodges were to be seen until recent years, and even now the occasional discovery of a flint arrow or spear-head rewards the quick eye. In fact, at several places throughout this district numerous Indian relics have been found, and on the rocks fronting Okanagan Lake, south of Gellatly Point are several specimens of Indian paintings or pictographs. These unfortunately, are disappearing as a result of wind and weather erosion.

There was no sound from the cluster of tepees nesting in the shadow of the low hill, yet the old chief, who was a stranger in the land, was troubled. Roused from the light sleep of the very old, he had left his couch to wander in the shadows cast by the moon, only to find that nothing stirred in its luminous light. Yet something had roused him. The hoot of an owl perhaps, or the cry of some denizen of the night. Or did some unknown peril threaten his people?

STRANGE LAND

Perhaps he had done wrong to lead his wandering tribe into this strange land. Coming from far to the south, they were on their way north, where, it was told, round the camp-fires, a rim of snow-capped mountains bordered a land where was to be had such hunting as was heard of only in song and story. Thus it was that they had reached this "lake-of-many-waters," along whose length they had travelled for more than two suns, and could not yet see the end of it.

SON WAS BRAVE

But what treachery was this? This warning tribe, why were they leading to do battle? Fear, clutched at the old man's heart—such strategy could mean only one thing—treachery. Ah, why was he so old and useless, so slow, because he could no longer see into the distance? He, who desired only to be able once more to leap and run with his people—to warn them of the unknown.

His son was brave, but what did he know of the wiles of strange tribes in an unknown land where the enemy had them at his mercy? The old man stumbled forward through the moonlit night. His warriors had made a swift advance, and already were far in front. If he hurried he might yet be in time to warn them.

Now he could distinguish distant forms silhouetted against the sky. He hastened his steps as the cries grew louder, and seemed more exultant to his ears. He would—no must, overtake them! Then, even as he drew nearer, the cries of the "victorious" and the vanquished mingled in one last wild, despairing shout. Then came silence—the silence of death.

Holding the old chief listened with bated breath. He moved forward warily. Hark! Was that the sound of water lapping on the shore far below? He stumbled over something soft and yielding, and drew back. Just in time he realized that he stood on the brink of a cliff that dropped down into a black void. Only too well he knew what had happened.

The strategy of the enemy had succeeded. The warriors had been lured to an ignominious death—led forward until it seemed they had overtaken their foe. Made swift advance behind a storm of arrows, perhaps, only to find the enemy mysteriously vanished. At the very edge of the cliff the attackers had made their escape by a way they only knew. Perhaps, even now, they were hidden close by.

PATH OF BRAVES

The old man visioned the fate of his brave. Two like those in the forefront had, he thought, been their shouts of warning and death.

Those in the rear had pressed forward, driving their own leaders over the cliff. All were gone—crushed and broken on the rocks below. None was left to avenge—none but he, who was old and whose sight was dim.

And that thing over which he had stumbled? Had it been friend or foe? He stopped, and in the moonlight that shone brightly on the face of the dead, the old chief felt, and recognized, the features of his son.

This, then, was the end! All that remained for him was to take that swift step into the void below—to join his brothers and sons in that land where there would be no more defeat—the Happy Hunting-grounds.

And the others? Those remaining in the camp—the old men and women—the maidens? "Moonbeam-on-the-Snow," the girl beloved of his own son, and who soon was to have been his bride? What of her—and of them all? For long the old chief stood—alone with his grief—his eyes dimmed with something more than age.

No... Such escape was not for him. His bitter task to retrace the path of those who had set forth so valiantly. And soon—perhaps are the sun, following the path set for it had once more made the shadows of the tepees to lengthen across the floor of the valley—the enemy would triumph as mercilessly as in the black hours of the night, and every trace of his people's habitations would be wiped out. They would be prisoners, awaiting a fate worse than death.

The heralds of the coming dawn flamed in the eastern sky far across the Lake-of-Many-Waters, when Chief Rider-over-Thundering-Waters, crushed and humiliated by his weight of woe, found himself back at the desolate camp.

Gordon's Super-Valu will conduct four-day cooking school starting Tuesday

A four-day "Fun with Food" cooking school will be held here starting next Tuesday, conducted by internationally-known Dorothy Rimmer, for the benefit of Kelowna housewives.

Sponsored by Gordon's Super-Valu store, the school will be located in the Scout Hall, with two-hour meetings starting at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. A night session will be held Wednesday from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m.

During many years of teaching, research, food writing, radio and television appearances, Miss Rimmer has become familiar with all the kitchen problems of homemakers.

SAVE TIME AND ENERGY

The cooking expert is prepared to help women save time, energy, and money through new uses of old foods and quick, easy cooking tips. Reduction of shopping trips, economical shopping and proper food storage are the preliminaries to a free and easy family life, believes Miss Rimmer.

Question and answer periods will take up a large part of each session, enabling each participant to profit from the exchange of ideas and cooking problems. Miss Rimmer will present tested recipes which she assures "everyone can follow easily—and turn out the cooked dishes to look and taste exactly as they are done at the school."

The cooked dishes and 15 bags of groceries are awarded to the audience each day, as well as an appliance to the winner of a contest. On Friday the prize will be a Westinghouse washing machine, through the courtesy of Bennett's Stores.

TECHNOCRACY

Whatever the future of Technocracy, one must fairly say that it is the only program of social and economic reconstruction which is in complete intellectual and technical accord with the age in which we live.

World traveller Baron F. von Blomberg will speak at Evangel Tabernacle Sunday

World-traveller Baron Fray von Blomberg, who is equally at home with royalty, refugees and D.P.'s, will be a guest at the Royal Anne Hotel this week-end, and on Sunday evening will speak at Evangel Tabernacle.

Born William T. Fray, son of an Irish-American shoemaker, the white-haired baron had a prosaic enough start in life. He became a Boston publicity agent, and then, 20 years ago, was legally adopted by Baroness Adelheid Maria von Blomberg, and became a baron.

Hailing from Hampton, New Hampshire, the baron has a home and office in Boston, in addition to the family home. His life so far has been full of vivid experiences, and he probably knows more royalty than anybody on the North American continent. He played an important part in international relations during the past two decades.

He has done much good work in connection with Europe's countless refugees and D.P.'s, and at one time was official spokesman for a million Polish displaced persons in Germany, and for twelve million German expellees.

If anyone called at the baron's home and was told he was away, it would be a pretty safe bet to assume he was in some palace in Greece, a Chateau in France, or perhaps conferring with an exiled monarch in some great hotel in a European capital.

Baron Fray von Blomberg has conferred with and advised many great personages, including the late King George of Greece, King Paul of Greece, President Quattrone of Syria, former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, of England, former President Auriol of France, King Umberto of Italy, former President Harry Truman, General de Gaulle of France, and His Holiness the Pope.

He has also met the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, and King Carol and Madame Lupescu. He has been the advisor of many kings and their consorts, and has interpreted for them the thoughts and opinions of the peoples of the western world.

ANTI-COMMUNIST

A staunch anti-communist, the Baron is able to place his opinions before royalty on how to keep communism from infiltrating their countries, and he believes that monarchies in many instances act as a stabilizing influence. Many of the deposed monarchs wish to get their thrones back, he says, and he feels that most of the rulers with whom he has associated are honest, earnest and sincere, with a real desire to return and serve their countries.

One of the most recently deposed

Final reading given tax bill at Peachland

PEACHLAND—Peachland municipal council gave final reading to a bylaw setting the 1964 mill rate at 42 mills, up three mills from last year.

Following considerable discussion, it was passed, with councillors Ayers and Khalebach voting against the bill, and Councillors Miller and Birklund voting in favor. Reeve Hawkeye being in favor of the increase, declared the bylaw carried.

During the debate, it was apparent that the increase in the mill rate was only necessary should the corporation purchase an asphalt mixer and screens as set out in bylaw 310 which was defeated at the last council meeting. The reeve signified he was going to bring it up again for reconsideration at this meeting. Councillors Birklund and Miller thought the paving should be done even if the fruit crop had been damaged by frost, the increased taxation being paid by all.

BOLD PLEBISCITE

Bylaw 310 in its amended form as presented by the reeve for reconsideration, calls for a plebiscite to be held in the town of Peachland, asking permission of the Lieutenant Governor to authorize a plebiscite of the taxpayers for permission to use $4,000 from tax sale monies to purchase a McNaulty Asphalt Mixer and screens. The municipality plans doing a certain amount of paving this year.

A contract was then presented by the clerk for council's consideration with the W. and W. Construction Company agreeing to pay ten cents per yard for 10,000 yards and leaving the hillside and ballpark in good condition. This can be reconsidered by both parties at 5,000 yards.

A complaint was received from Mr. Fulk regarding the fire hazard and junk on a piece of property. Legal advice is being sought.

A request to have two cottonwoods cut near the B. Williams' residence was not dealt with, as it was thought they were on government property.

A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. A. Ruffie on behalf of the May 24 committee.

ASSESSMENT SURVEY

Word was received that the assessment commission would conduct a survey in the rural areas of School District No. 23 in the near future.

Reeve Hawkeye pointed out that in reporting the last council meeting, it was stated a motion for $2,000 for the purchase of a new 30 h.p. pump and ten inch pipe had been passed. This should have read $4,000 for the moving and installation of the present pipe. A new pump will be purchased next year.

Outlines what progress made to form new Boy Scout troop

An outline of the progress achieved in the formation of a Boy Scouts troop in the Roman Catholic parish was given the Father Pendozi Council of the Knights of Columbus at the May monthly meeting in St. Joseph's Hall.

Bro. Larry Schlosser explained that the new group's formation falls in line with a trend in the province to have church groups organize Scout troops. Two of the major problems at the moment are lack of funds and organizing help. He pointed out that some 20 boys have been turning out and that the number must be limited by funds and organizational help. Bro. Schlosser's appeal for monetary assistance resulted in a motion approved by the Council to donate $50.

In speaking to the motion, Bro. Bert Chichester of Rutland, who is active in the Rutland Scout movement, commended the Kelowna parish for forming such a troop and recalled at the same time that there was a Roman Catholic Boy Scout Troop several years ago. He mentioned several ways to raise money, urging organizers to teach and let the boys help themselves as much as possible. Bro. John Kiene also supported the stand.

FORM COMMITTEE

Bro. Schlosser heads a five-man committee charged with forming the new Scout troop. Two officers on the committee are Knights: Bro. George Vetter (Deputy Grand Knight) and Bro. Jack Bedford.

The meeting of the Knights also confirmed earlier reports that a caretaker would be hired to take care of the Catholic cemetery grounds during the weed-growing season. Bro. John Hromek brought this out while giving a report on the work done by a committee, headed by the Knights, that tackled the clean-up job at the cemetery Good Friday.

Grand Knight L. W. Marr gave a report on the recent three-degree initiation at Kamloops, where five candidates (among more than a score of others from other councils) were received and became members of the Father Pendozi Council. The 66-year-old cook, who has been employed on CPR's lake and river service since 1931, officially retires from active service next August. Meanwhile he will be on annual vacation and accumulated leave days until the end of July.

A presentation was made to him on behalf of the officers and crew members by Captain J. McLeod; CPR's assistant superintendent, J. E. Johnson, and chief clerk of the Kettle Valley division, Jack Peiley.

Dar Lock intends to reside in Vancouver on retirement.

The next meeting, to be held June 1, will take the form of a supper meeting, with a cold supper served at 6:30 p.m., to be followed by the meeting, the most important business of which will be the annual election of officers for the ensuing year. A report on the annual state convention also will be given.

Grand Knight L. W. Marr is appointing a nominating committee to obtain a tentative slate of candidates who are willing to stand for election as officers.

Peachland reeve denies report he voted against paving by-law

PEACHLAND—Reeve G. W. Hawkeye, of Peachland, this week denied a previous report that he had voted against the purchase of road paving equipment.

In a letter to the editor, Reeve Hawkeye pointed out that under section 537 of the Municipal Act it requires a three quarter majority to expend money from the sale of tax sale funds.

"Two councillors and myself voted for the bylaw, and although this was a majority, it was not the three quarter majority required, and I was reluctantly forced to declare the motion lost," the reeve stated.

Mr. Hawkeye continued: "I have been, and still am, heartily in favor of obtaining our own equipment and paving our roads and sidewalks on a year to year basis as funds are available. I might add that these councillors opposing the by-law when presented April 29, have now reconsidered and the by-law passed unanimously on May 14. It will now be presented for approval to the Lieutenant Governor with a request that it be referred to the ratifiers.

"The money in this fund, derived over a period of years from the sale of land, obtained through tax sale proceedings, may only be used for bringing sinking funds up to requirements or for expenditures of a capital or other special nature. We have no sinking fund requirements, and unless this money is put to some useful purpose for the welfare of the whole community, it would remain indefinitely in the bank and serve no use.

"It is possible, over a comparatively short number of years, to greatly improve our community with paved roads and sidewalks. This cannot help but result in improved property values, saving in vehicle wear and tear, reduction in dust nuisance and damage, and above all, a feeling of pride that inevitably follows when a community realizes that although progress is slow, we are still able to move ahead."

Auction nets AOTS club at Rutland total of $125

RUTLAND—The AOTS Club held a very successful auction on Saturday evening last, at the Community Hall corner, where they auctioned off a great variety of items donated by the members of the congregation and others. A total of over $125 was realized.

The Rutland school band, under the direction of J. Bianco presented another of their enjoyable concerts in the auditorium on Saturday evening.

The Rutland local of the BCFGA held their monthly meeting in the school on Friday evening last. After dealing with a number of items of business the members were shown a number of films by Bertram Chichester. Jim Snowsall, of Glenmore, a member of the BCFGA executive was present at the meeting and spoke briefly on fruit matters.

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. N. Drutt and family have motored to San Francisco for a holiday. While there Dr. Drutt will also attend a medical convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Grieg returned recently from a trip to Tacoma, Washington.

Mrs. G. Olsh, of Calgary, and two young children have been visiting relatives in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Asseltine, of Trail, have taken up residence in Rutland, in the Tillotson house.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Elliott, of Crescent Beach, have been visiting Mrs. Elliott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Barber.

The Arthritis campaign in Rutland has not been making as much progress as was hoped, due to difficulty in getting canvassers for some sections of the district. Anyone wishing to contribute that may not be called upon at home, may leave their contributions at Gray's Real Estate office, or mail to Mrs. A. W. Gray, R.R. 2.

Paul Sedlack left recently for Saskatchewan where he will be employed on pipeline construction work.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hobson were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Ruff, returning Sunday evening to their home in Vancouver.

Sam McGee of Northern Lights fame up Lake La Barge way would turn over in his grave, perhaps, at this news: Employees in the cocktail lounge and tavern at Whitehorse in the Yukon have become unionised.

Okanagan member talks on veterans in house

The following excerpt has been taken from Hansard after a debate on veterans affairs by the Okanagan member.

Mr. O. L. Jones (Okanagan-Boundary): Mr. Speaker, I have noticed that so far every speaker, irrespective of the party to which he belongs, has referred to the particular resolution before us as being too confining in its nature. I agree with them 100 percent. It is thirty-five years since the first war ended and there are problems affecting the veterans of that war that are still unsettled. There is nobody to which they can come to have those problems aired in a proper manner. I do not feel that the paid officials who are there to administer the act are the right people with whom to discuss proposed changes in the act. The veterans themselves or the veteran members of the house should have some say in the matter. Since these problems have remained unsolved as they have for thirty-five years, it is time a change was made in the method of dealing with them. I feel that in this particular instance the reference to the committee should cover all veterans problems.

The veterans themselves had some hope that when the committee was set up it would deal with all their problems, and particularly veterans allowances. These problems have been brought to the attention of the government and it is a slap in the face to the veteran and the veteran organizations who have consistently asked for the opportunity to discuss veterans allowances, that this matter is not to be considered.

STANDING COMMITTEE

I agree with the member for Cape Breton South (Mr. Gillis) that we should have a standing committee on veterans affairs. As a matter of fact, on December 9 last I had the following proposed resolution put on the order paper:

That standing order 63 be amended by inserting therein immediately after subsection (1) the following new subsection:

(m) on veterans affairs, to consist of 35 members, 10 of whom shall constitute a quorum.

This idea is not entirely my own, but is general throughout Canada. An opportunity for airing the grievances that are continuously being brought up through veterans organizations and directly to the member of parliament by the veterans themselves ought to be provided. I feel it would eliminate a great deal of dissatisfaction that we have at the present time. It would eliminate dissatisfaction with what the department calls border-line cases, because in most instances the department takes the line most favorable to the government. This happens in spite of the fact that time and time again we have been told the veteran will be given the benefit of the doubt. I can prove that in some instances such has not been the case. I feel that such a committee would be of immense help to the minister. Through the members the minister could be kept up to date on conditions throughout the country.

IMPENDING WIDESPREAD

There is no family in the whole dominion that is not, in some way, touched by veterans problems, either through the husband, son, daughter or other relative who served in one of the forces. The importance of this subject is so widespread that I feel a standing committee should be set up immediately. The recent sitings of the agriculture committee has been of interest to me. This committee had to consider the report of the Canadian wheat board, which was placed before the committee in its entirety as well as the recommendations resulting from the year's operation. Members of the board were there to answer questions. I thought the idea was a good one because the matter was dealt with by a group who understood wheat problems and who understood what they were doing about them. This arrangement proved very satisfactory. I believe that the committee that is now being set up for veterans affairs should be asked to consider the Canadian Legion brief, in its entirety, presented to the department last November 16, just as the agriculture committee considered a brief that was not sponsored by a minister of the crown.

I feel that in that way we could deal much more satisfactorily with the problems so far as the veterans are concerned. These problems go beyond the bills referred to the committee. These bills hardly go anywhere at all but merely remedy one or two little things the minister feels should be remedied. I feel this brief was prepared by a body much closer touch with the needs of veterans than those who administer the act in Ottawa would be. I should like to comment upon one or two aspects of the brief, but in view of Mr. Speaker's ruling I shall satisfy myself by mentioning the need for revision of veterans allowances. This brief contains suggested remedies for the protection of the veterans. I could give instance after instance which I hope I shall be able to do later in the session, illustrating the injustices created by the administration of this act—I am speaking of the veterans allowances now.

There are other recommendations in the brief equally as important concerning veterans who live outside of the veterans. I could give instance after instance which I hope I shall be able to do later in the session, illustrating the injustices created by the administration of this act—I am speaking of the veterans allowances now.

RANCH EARNINGS

Another point that I think is important, and I have taken it up with the department, is the arbitrary way in which veterans allowance is affected by their earnings on a ranch. I have several veterans on small holdings in the Okanagan. I know of one whose income from operations was just about $1020 but his total operating costs—he is a cripple—was over $1200. He showed a net loss for the year $200, but under the new ruling the department said, no, 50 percent of your gross must be regarded as net profit. In his case, as a result, he and his wife had about $21 per month on which to live. I feel that such matters as that should be dealt with by the standing committee. I have cited one example and could go on to others. There are several others who have been treated in the same way.

The other matter that I believe is urgent concerns widows' pensions. I have mentioned the subject before, but I am going to do it again because the departmental ruling is still the same. If a disabled pensioner dies while receiving only 49 percent or less the widow gets nothing. If he received 50 percent or more, the widow gets a substantial pension. I claim that the line is too hard and fast. It would not cost the government any money because it would merely be a continuation of the pension received by the husband before he died. He would have been paid had he lived, so it is a continuation of a part of the pension to the widow after he has died. Such action would remove a condition that is very unfair, especially if the matter was discussed in the proposed committee. Without going into detail, I would suggest to the minister that he again review the Canadian Legion brief and see if he cannot agree with me that it is a comprehensive one produced by experts in the field of veterans affairs and presented fairly and truthfully. If that brief were presented to the committee, with a request for recommendations, I believe the minister could be satisfied that veterans problems were on the road to being solved.

MEMBERS' DUTY

I would point that it is the duty of every member of the house, and particularly veteran members, to deal with veterans problems. If we cannot get that opportunity we are frustrated, the veterans are frustrated and everyone is frustrated in presenting veterans problems. Today we have seen an attempt made to curtail the discussion of this vital subject. The day may yet come when we shall want to call upon the young people of Canada to fight our battles in perhaps still another war. If the treatment accorded the veterans of the three previous wars is not satisfactory, there will be little chance of being successful in the recruiting program for the next war. I think to a certain extent that is the reason why the target is twenty-five percent less than the target set for last month by the Minister of National Defence (Mr. Claxton).

I hope the Minister of Veterans Affairs (Mr. Lapointe) will take heed of what has been said by hon. members and before it is too late, either suggest a standing committee on veterans affairs or enlarge immediately the scope of the committee now to be set up.

Civic officials confer May 21

Annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities will be held in Windsor, Ont., August 23-25. City Council was informed last week. Mayor J. J. Ladd, who is president of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association, said he would bring the matter up at the next quarterly meeting to be held in Kelowna Community Hall on May 21. The OVMA will probably send a delegate. Mayor Ladd and Aldermen M. Melkie and J. Treagold indicated they would attend the May 21 conference. A number of various Okanagan cities and towns will hold a meeting the same time. Mayor Ladd said that, until he heard from the other cities, they could not say if they would be in attendance. Col. J. J. Ladd will be in attendance.

WOLF CUB FIELD DAY

As the hands of the clock struck four-thirty last Saturday afternoon, the first Central Okanagan Wolf Cub Field Day became a reality. One hundred and eighty-nine wolf cubs and their leaders paraded from the Scout Hall to the City Park oval, under a police escort. Upon arriving at the park, all one hundred and eighty-nine voices were raised as they entered the Grand Howl. After this an inspection was held and followed up with various games. Each Cub brought a picnic supper which quickly disappeared. This was followed by demonstrations put on by the different Packs. There was a prize given for the best demonstration and the judges had a tough time deciding on a winner. They were all worthy of a prize. The activities wound up with a sing song and a very well done Mouse Howl.

The District Scouter took pleasure in presenting the shields to the winning Pack. East Kelowna won the shield for the best Pack on the field and Rutland won the shield for the best Pack demonstration. Sixty John Campbell received the shield

Strawberry social planned at Oyama

OYAMA—The regular meeting of the KWI was held last Thursday, when plans for the strawberry social to be held at the home of Mrs. D. Rimmer on June 24 were discussed, as well as the serving of tea on Oyama's May Day, May 24. Mrs. T. Towgood, delegate to the district rally held in Penticton, recently gave an excellent report of the rally. Following the meeting a surprise miscellaneous shower was given for Mrs. Mildred Cushing, a member, who recently lost her home by fire. Mrs. Cushing thanked her many friends for the useful and beautiful gifts received. Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. F. H. Aldred, Mrs. H. Byatt, Mrs. George Pothary (Jr.), Mrs. Schuster, Mrs. W. Myers and Mrs. N. Allingham.

on behalf of the Rutland Pack and Sixty John Campbell received the shield on behalf of the East Kelowna Pack.

Special mention should be given to Cubmaster Harold Willet who organized the field day. Praise should also be given to Gordon Leonard, Patrol Leader David McClure and Second Berry Crawford who acted as judges. And a special thanks to the service Scouts who helped so much in keeping the program going in such a smooth manner. Well done to all and good cubbing.

Rutland band gives concert at Oyama

OYAMA—A small, but appreciative audience heard the Rutland High School band in a concert on Friday evening, in the Oyama Community Hall, sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary, Canadian Legion, Branch 1089.

Mr. Bianco, conductor, is to be congratulated on the remarkable progress he has made with these budding musicians, who gave an excellent and varied program. In addition to the band numbers of marches, overtures and instrumental duets and solos, Robbie and Bruce Preston, of Rutland, gave three bagpipe selections, one of them in accompaniment to Linda Cross, of Kelowna, in a Scottish dance. Mrs. Jackson of Kelowna gave a recitation and Mr. Harley Smith, as guest conductor, led the band in a number which was entertaining, if not strictly to score. The program was ably M.C.'d by Tommy Olsen of C.I.B. The proceeds of the concert will go towards purchasing uniforms for the band.

Commends public works engineer on ferry service

Ald. Dick Parkinson commented at last week's council meeting that the provincial public works engineer Tom Hughes is "acting very intelligently" in the way he is running the service. Mr. Parkinson said the service is a vast improvement over the past, and that the works engineer is using discretion regarding placing of an extra ferry in service when there are hockey games, holidays, etc. Council agreed with Ald. Parkinson.

Add, all at once, 3 1/2 c. once-sifted bread flour and work in with the hands; work in 2 lbs. soft shortening knead on lightly-floured board until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl. Cover with a damp cloth and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough in bowl, fold over, cover and again let rise until doubled in bulk. Turn out on lightly-floured board and divide into 2 equal portions; shape each piece into a long roll about 1 1/2" in diameter. Cover with a damp cloth and let rest 15 mins. Using a floured sharp knife, cut dough into 2" lengths and place, well apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Sprinkle rolls with cornmeal and let rise, uncovered, for 1/2 hour. Brush with cold water and let rise another 1/2 hour. Meanwhile, stand a broad shallow pan of hot water in the oven and preheat oven to hot, 425°. Remove pan of water from oven and bake the rolls in steam-filled oven for 1/2 hour, brushing them with cold water and sprinkling lightly with cornmeal after the first 15 mins., and again brushing them with cold water 2 minutes before removing baked buns from the oven. Yield — 18 rolls.

Youthful folly

Last night I saw something which made me wonder just how thoughtless youngsters can get. It was a pile of probably a hundred pieces of copper-covered steel wire bent as staples and an equal number of elastic. These things are harmless in themselves but when put together can be dynamite.

They have been put together and used. The elastics are used to propel the staples with some force through the air. And they have been used in — of all places — the Paramount Theatre. I saw the collection in Manager Harper's office; he had taken them from five boys.

Mr. Harper has had considerable trouble with a certain element of the young people. They have deliberately cut the leather in the seats and have torn washbowls from the walls and such other senseless destruction. However, this was material damage. The staple-shooting currently in vogue among the hoodlums of the younger set is much more serious.

Do these kids not realize that anyone of the flipped staples may put out somebody's eye? Do they not realize that the staple that could rip a face or an arm or a hand very easily? If they do not, well, they do not even attempt to make their brains turn over.

I haven't any idea who these youngsters are and I do not want to know. Manager Harper's comment: "You'd be surprised at the families they come from." That statement may be a guide to some parents, and after all the parents have some responsibility. It surely is their responsibility to see that their youngsters do not become dangerous demons in a public place. And that is just what these staple-shooting youngsters are.

The parents might give some thought, too, to the position they would be in if their youngster flipped one of these staples and put out somebody's eye. There could be a healthy suit for damages.

Mr. Harper has done what he can; he has caught half a dozen youngsters and barred them from his show for a month. That is not very stiff punishment, but it is something and MAY be a guide for some unsuspecting parents.

the RURAL areas that were flooded; but that is not what the story said in either case.

The truth of the matter is, of course, that the drinking water in the flooded part of the city was not affected. It comes from the city water supply and through pipes. Outside the city many of the flooded properties use wells and these, naturally, would not be in fit condition to use.

The net result of the carelessness is, of course, that Kelowna has a bad name as far as its water is concerned. Already a Vancouver man has commented in my office that he saw that we "had to boil the drinking water." That was when I completely blew my top!

Let's talk about cancer

Famous boxer and dancing-man, Sugar Ray Robinson, recently toured the British Columbia Cancer Institute.

As one of the six directors of the Damon Runyon Cancer Research Fund he's inspected cancer treatment centres all over the world. His reaction? Surprise.

"Wonderful," "modern," "I am amazed" . . . these were the words of "Sugar Ray" as he went from corridors to the therapy rooms to new departments.

When on tour, the showman, who happened to be a great friend of Runyan, spends considerable portions of his free time at cancer centres. So his praise is high praise for the BCCI.

Another visitor to the Institute — less famous but equally if not more important — was an old man of 94. He just showed up, he said, to contribute to the campaign. He'd been a patient at the Institute and received "such wonderful treatment that I thought I'd save up and give something when the campaign came around."

His "something"? Seventy-five dollars. And he was by no means a spokesman of the campaign, we're five or six thousand over the mark recorded at this time last year.

A good sign . . . because last year's campaign was the most successful in the books.

So far $12,000 has come in, or been reported.

And, to date, two units have broken their records.

Prince Rupert doubled its intake . . . collecting more than $4,000 and they've not stopped yet) as compared to $2,000 last year . . . and Quesnel, which didn't campaign last year, is already over the $1,000 mark.

Looks like an energetic year ahead for the Cancer Society.

About a month ago we were column-talking about a new booklet. It's ready for you now.

Titled "Live Without Fear" it gives you straightforward facts about cancer and cancer treatments, discusses the B.C. Cancer Institute and its facilities for examination and treatment, outlines how you can receive financial and medical help, how you can get free cancer dressings from the Order of the Eastern Star, every question we could think of is answered.

You can receive, free, this booklet by contacting your local Cancer Society Unit or writing Canadian Cancer Society, 688 West 10th Avenue, Vancouver.

It was written for every citizen in British Columbia . . . we hope many of you will write for it.

Submits plan for proposed hotel site

A rather unique plan for changing the routing of Bernard Avenue as it leads on to Abbott Street, in order to make an attractive site for a proposed hotel, was submitted to City Council last week. R. F. Steele, informed council by letter that he felt the plan would give Kelowna a beach resort second to none and add to the beautification of the Orchard City.

Mr. Steele proposed that the present route of Bernard Avenue be changed so that instead of continuing to the park as it does now, it turn left at the light, just west of the Paramount Theatre block. Main park entrance, under the proposed plan would be changed to the foot of Bernard Avenue. The hotel would sit on the new Bernard Avenue thoroughfare and the back of the hotel would face the park.

Mayor Ladd expressed appreciation of Mr. Steele's efforts in drawing the plan and said it warranted a lot of thought. However, he thought the proposal would be a pretty expensive proposition to carry out, as the city would have to purchase right-of-way for a road-way.

CORONATION FILMS SHOWN

Mayor outlines to local council of women work carried out in civic administration

The Kelowna Council of Women met in regular session in the Community Health Centre last Friday, when fourteen organizations were represented. Before the regular session, a film entitled "Her People Rejoice" was presented by Walter Goodland. This magnificent film, produced by the BBC with the assistance of the governments of member countries of the Commonwealth, was a tour of the British Commonwealth of Nations, showing how the coronation of Queen Elizabeth was celebrated around the world. It comprised scenes from over thirty countries and set forth vividly the color and variety of the commonwealth celebrations.

Guest speaker was Mayor J. J. Ladd, who spoke on the work of the Kelowna City Council. He dealt first with the qualifications necessary to become either a mayor or alderman. Mr. Ladd said a councillor must be a British subject 21 years of age or over, and an owner of property for a certain length of time.

It is the mayor's prerogative to appoint aldermen to the different departments of work. A brief description of the various kinds of work done by the present council was outlined from parks to roads, to the care of health, etc. and lastly to finance, which is in the hands of Mayor Ladd himself.

MUST RAISE MONEY
By taxation, a certain sum of money is raised yearly to help run the city's affairs. This sum of money, however, is not nearly large enough for the requirements that have to be met; therefore the city has to make a profit on public utilities. Also, of course, there are certain rentals, grants, and money from licensing which swell the total that the council receives.

Mayor Ladd spoke briefly on the difficulty of establishing certain new industries, but emphasized that Kelowna has one real industry—that of the tourist trade. Commendation was given to the tourist association for the Okanagan Valley for what has already been done in this connection.

Reference was made to the proposed bylaw for a new water intake. Advice has been received that this

Rebekahs attend conference at Summerland

Eighty-one members and visitors attended the semi-annual meeting of the Okanagan Rebekah District Association No. 1, which was held in West Summerland early this month.

Faith No. 39 was the hostess lodge, and the gathering met in the IOOF Hall, with the Sisters of Faith No. 32 opening the meeting, after which they surrendered their chairs to the district officers.

These were: chairman, Sis. Ina Everett, PNG, Redland No. 12, Penitence; vice-chairman, Sis. Elsie Shaw, PNG, Kalamalka No. 6, Vernon; secretary-treasurer, Sis. Angie Turner, PNG, Redland No. 12, Penitence; and Sis. Nora Norman, PD District Supervisor, Vermilion No. 24, Princeton. Each officer was presented with a dainty corsage.

Delegates from Enderby, Princeton, Penitence, Vernon, Armstrong, Salmon Arm, West Summerland, Oliver and Kelowna gave reports which were outstanding and impressed the members with the vast amount of work being carried on by the Rebekah branch of the order.

DEMONSTRATION OF WORK
A demonstration of floor work was put on by the various lodges which added greatly to the success of the meeting. Sis. Ina Atkinson then escorted Bro. and Sis. Waldon, of West Summerland, into the hall, and presented them with a boutonniere and a lovely corsage, the occasion being their fifty-second wedding anniversary. Bro. and Sis. Waldon thanked the members for their thoughtfulness. Following this occasion they left on a trip to Winnipeg.

A recess was called during the afternoon, when the brothers were invited to join the sisters for tea, which was enjoyed by all, after which business was resumed. Four sisters went on a fraternal visit to the brothers and were presented with bouquets by the sisters.

Following reports from the various committees, the election of officers was held as follows: Chairman, Sister E. Shaw, PNG, Kalamalka, No. 6, Vernon; vice-chairman, Sis. W. Charlise, PNG, Golden Heart No. 60, Oliver. Sec-Treas, Sis. Lawes, Dove No. 69, Salmon Arm, and Sis. E. Cartwright, Golden Heart No. 60, Oliver, appointed as representative for Haynes International Park.

Faith No. 32, W. Summerland, performed the closing ceremonies. Business of the day being concluded, the sisters joined with the brothers at the Summerland Youth Centre for a banquet catered by the LOA of Summerland. Dancing followed in the IOOF Hall.

The fall meeting of the association will be held in Penitence.

British Columbia-Alberta:
Energy Pool of North America

BRITISH COLUMBIA and Alberta together have the greatest undeveloped store of accessible energy and fuel to be found anywhere in North America.

They have natural gas, oil, coal and water power sites in amazing abundance.

In combination with timber, minerals and agricultural products, this fuel and energy potential adds up to the raw materials of an immense industrial empire.

Two things are needed to complete the picture: People and Risk Capital. The people will come if they can be gainfully employed. Risk capital will come if it can be invested with confidence. It must be sure that it's wanted and will bet a friendly reception and square deal.

The Victoria merry-go-round

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—Some of the sightseeing bus drivers here, as they enter Beacon Hill Park, say: "Now folks, this is politicians' lane—I don't know why they called it that except because maybe it's so crooked and shady."

This wisecrack, naturally enough, brings a laugh, and it does have a certain amount of clumsy humor.

But hearing about this, I couldn't help but regret such a wisecrack and wondered why politicians are always called crooked and shady, why they're automatically suspect.

Perhaps too many of them, themselves, have brought what should be an honorable calling into disrepute.

After all politics is the basis of our form of government, and it's a pretty good basis. Has anyone a better basis to suggest?

It is by the system of politics that we, the people, rule ourselves. If politics gets into disrepute too often it is because of the lethargy of the people in their own affairs.

If there was a more alert public opinion at all times, if more people would vote, politicians wouldn't be said to be shady and crooked, as the sightseeing bus driver intimated they all are.

The Shorter Oxford English Dictionary defines a politician: "One versed in the theory of government, or the art of governing; one practically engaged in conducting the business of the state."

MAJOR RESPONSIBILITY
From that we see that our politicians have a tremendous responsibility. And the dictionary definition gives no suggestion that politicians should be looked upon as automatically shady and crooked.

Some of them are, of course; there are crooked and shady characters in all walks of life.

True, politicians can be ruthless; there is often little loyalty in politics. But that is also true elsewhere. There are many who, suavely, charmingly, will use friendship in order to achieve their own ends and who, when they've achieved it there, will search for what appears to be personal friendships elsewhere in order to achieve further ends. They use individuals as one might use the rungs of a ladder. When they

WETS WIN

The Editor, The Kelowna Courier.
Dear Sir:—I have read your editorial on "No Plebiscite," which is very clear. We have to submit to the desire of the people and have to say you win. We also ask what have you won? I think as a Christian community we can turn to our Bible and ask what the petitioners were after, and what the majority was after. Each side seeking a desired goal, let us turn to Galatians, chapter 5, verses 22-23 and read:

You will then better understand their zeal and self-sacrifice to obtain the desired conditions of the petitioners, the United Nations are seeking after this condition but without the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

I would not say the wets are seeking after the other goal which is found in the same chapter verses 19-20, but it will follow as darkness follows day. You may put frills and ribbons on the old serpent, yet its sting is just as venomous as ever.

The monetary gain of the few by the moral depravity of others will be paid by the many.

You point out in your editorial the results for Kelowna. All four types of liquor outlets are permissible here. Kelowna will not be pointed out to tourists as a place to pass by.

Since there is an irrevocable law which says: "What a man, community or nations sows, that will it also reap."

If Kelowna is going to allow temptation to overcome its intelligence, then I thank God, I can line myself up with the petitioners.

Yours respectfully,
HENRY G. MOSES.

SABBATH DAY

Winfield, B.C.,
May 17, 1964.

The Editor, The Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir:—I could hardly believe my own ears, when I heard over the radio Saturday night the invitation to the willing workers of Kelowna to come and help finish the grandstand on Sunday morning.

This is a so-called christian country. Our laws are supposed to be governed by the word of God and the Bible. Mr. Parkinson, do you believe in God's word? Have you ever read the 20th chapter of Exodus? You'll find the ten commandments there and the fourth commandment is: "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work. But the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God. In it thou shalt not do any work. Thou nor thy son nor thy daughter thy manservant nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle nor the stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea and all that is in them, and rested the seventh day. Wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it."

Are we going to become a God-less nation? Where are we headed for when those in authority over us consent and encourage us to make our hammers pound on a beautiful Sabbath morning when we ought at least to be resting?

How good the Lord has been to us in these wonderful countries. We need to look out because we shall all reap what we sow. Where are all the church-going people to allow such things?

I thought there was a law against it. What an example to show the youth of our fair land and little children.

Yours sincerely,
ESTHER BASTIAN.

The rural school annual play-day took place at the Gyro Park last Friday; schools taking part being those of East and South Kelowna, Mission Creek and Okanagan Mission.

The program, arranged by the teachers, included a variety of races and games for the older children, while the little ones had a lot of fun building sand castles. The weather was perfect, and everyone spent a happy day.

Congratulations go to the local children who were the winners of many ribbons. Members of the P-T-A and the U-Go-I-Go Club were in charge of the canteen, where soft drinks, ice-cream, candy and hot dogs were available.

The East Kelowna Cub Pack, with their Cub-master took part in the parade held in Kelowna last Saturday, and gave a demonstration of first-aid at the park. The pack won an award for general appearance.

The Passing Parade

FIRST DANCE

The Fertility Festival of the Mojave tribe, which I had occasion to investigate in the California desert of that name a year ago, begins six months before the actual night with the ceremonial slaying of a goat.

The goat's ears are hung to be dried in the sun as a symbol of something or other and the maidens of the tribe begin the process of fashioning robes for the dance of love, a chore (the robe-making, that is) which will occupy them half of the year. The men, meanwhile, have begun the making of dyes from roots and herbs for their own decorative effects.

I have been recalling this lore in the past week because it is so very similar to the preparations for a Teen-Town dance.

A father is a wistful figure during these preparations. His traditional and functional role in theory, as the head of the household, is a shadowy thing. He must reconcile himself with the knowledge that he is needed only for his bank account, such as it is. This is woman's work. This is No Man's Land.

The selection of the dress, a decision which makes any Supreme Court judgment seem wickedly off-hand, is debated for weeks before the day of the dance—or D-Day, as I think of it—and it's a wise man who retreats into the tent of his newspaper.

In the city, I presume, mother and daughter are able to perform these rites in the privacy of a dress shoppe or style salon. In the country it is done through the medium of the mail-order catalogue.

City people think of a catalogue as a large book containing pictures of shallow-well piston pumps, automobile parts and men in long woolen underwear. The modern catalogue, in fact, is a bible of high style offering a bewildering and terrible choice for the female of all ages.

As the deliberations reach their crucial stage the father may be invited, half-heartedly, to cast his ballot. This helps to narrow down the number of eligible gowns for, quite naturally, the little dress that Daddy likes is automatically rejected. I mention this not from any bitterness, but merely as advice to you younger men who will find it out the hard way.

Like all of life's big moments it happens with a jolt of suddenness. You hear a rustle of stiff cloth in a doorway, look up from whatever you may be doing, and behold a strange young woman in the room. It is a moment of pride—how lovely to the cushion alongside your right leg and sweep the skirt over your knees as you turn your body and rest your feet on the running board or curb.

3. With the feet together on the running board or curb, move the left foot back a bit and rise with most of your weight on that foot. As you rise, the right hand is in a normal, graceful position to brush the skirt down from the back. With a little practice, it's a beautiful thing to do—and to watch.

"SHOOTING IT OUT" means much less danger for police when they wear this bullet-proof vest which gives complete protection. It's made of five layers of specially woven nylon. When bullet strikes first layer, fibres squeeze around it, bring it to a stop.

THE WARRIOR James Milligan, this year's C-I-L Award Winner in "C-I-L" category, is shown here in his role as a warrior. He is wearing a dark jacket and a light-colored shirt with a tie.

SHIRING HOT DOGS is simplified now. Shors buy them all ready in rolls called "Collapsible" bags. Special zipper projects heat rays through wrapper, heats wiener perfectly in a jiffy.

Noted Fashion Consultant Irene Kon of Montreal, makes up entirely new colour range for C-I-L. Enamel. Each colour cleverly goes with each other.

A PLYSOMAX COMES TRUE for the man on the land. The flexible plastic, C-I-L. Plysoma makes pipe-lengths and a screwdriver for tightening fittings. Flexible polythene holds around rocks, curves and corners.

SHINY DUCKS look when a cover gets to work on them again. Many buyers recommend more just because they help preserve Canada's game birds.

DID YOU KNOW? C-I-L Plastic Wood is one of the handiest aids in the house. You can use it to fill cracks in floors, nail holes, for repairing furniture and window frames. It handles like putty and hardens into wood which can be sandpapered smooth and painted.

Fly-fishing attracts youngsters

Fly-fishing expert Wally Maxson points out the finer points of a rod and reel to Courier carrier boys (left to right) Tony and Romulo Verna, 12, and ten-year-old Michael Gibson during fishing school sponsored by Ritchie brothers sporting goods store here. The Verna's, cousins, who came to Canada from Italy, were among group of nearly 25 youngsters who are attending nightly classes at City Park.

Fishing shows improvement Lake Okanagan

Fishing on Lake Okanagan has improved considerably during the past few weeks, and some good catches are being brought in, according to Cyril Pitt, operator of a boat rental service at the foot of Bernard Avenue.

Last Saturday several people were out on the lake, and at least one fisherman returned with a four-pounder as well as three others of smaller size. They reported that fish were going for the Tom Mack Club's 0-1, with about 300 to 400 feet of line.
